

To Whom it may concern,

I am writing to express my opposition to the 'Restoring of Internet Freedom'. As a software engineer at an internet based business, and entrepreneur, it is clear this legislation will cause significant damage to my current and future ability to generate and accumulate wealth.

Additionally, the ISPs have stated clearly, in their investor filings that their inclusion as Title 2 business has not impacted their investment potential. As I'm sure you're aware, these documents are protected under securities legislation and are a clear indication that the current status quo is both better for consumers and entrepreneurs while demonstrating no harm to the ISPs.

I implore you to do what you know is best for the American People, and allow the current status of ISPs as Title 2 services to remain in place.

Thank you,
Reuben Brandt
